Allan James Moore

Event planners choose Allan because he makes their job easier. He's a reliable, high-engagement keynote speaker who delivers exactly what he promises: humour, leadership insight, and practical tools that strengthen communication and psychological safety. With 20+ years of real-world leadership experience and a background in stand-up comedy, Allan keeps audiences laughing, learning, and fully involved — without ever putting the planner at risk. His interactive exercises are simple to run, easy to manage, and consistently earn rave reviews. When you bring Allan in, you're choosing a speaker who connects with every room, handles the details, and makes your event look exceptional.

MOST REQUESTED KEYNOTES:

Party Crash Bold Results: Bold People. Bold Leaders. Neuroscience-Driven Performance

Party Crash is a bold philosophy for stepping into the roles and opportunities you belong in—even when you haven't been invited.

Allan shares hilarious stories from his unconventional career path—professional soccer, Mandarin interpreting, kindergarten teaching, Fortune 500 leadership, and even exotic dancing - to show how “crashing the party” helped him discover his true calling.

Your team learns how to use this mindset to uncover hidden strengths, accelerate their careers, and become employees who don't just follow the vision of the organization—they help shape it; and this keynote teaches leaders to not just tolerate party crashing...But celebrate it.

How to Tame Your Elephant and Cultivate Courageous Leadership

Allan uses his unforgettable story of being charged by elephants in Africa to spark an interactive exploration of leadership behaviours - accountability, clear communication, and the psychological safety needed to speak up when it really matters. Through humour, audience engagement, and real-world leadership experience, he helps teams identify their own leadership pitfalls and the habits that hold them back.

Participants leave with practical tools to cultivate courageous leadership, strengthen trust, and create environments where people feel safe to share ideas - even dissenting ones.

Sisyphus No More: Communication Skills for High Performing Teams Human and Organizational Performance

Sisyphus No More is a practical, humour-driven keynote that helps teams break free from the communication habits that create friction, frustration, and stalled performance.

Drawing from his hilarious “Sisyphus Relationships” story and 25 years of leading teams, Allan shows how tools like emotional bank accounts, differentiated conversations, and vulnerability-based trust transform workplace relationships.

Audiences learn simple, actionable communication skills that strengthen connection, reduce misunderstandings, and create the conditions for high-performing, collaborative teams communications in the workplace.
